Block Size: 6 ½" Unfinished (6" Finished) Number of Blocks Needed: 108

Backing Yardage Approx. 5¼ yards Binding: ¾ yard

There are many, many ways to design this quilt.

Option 1 – Use 2 Fabrics

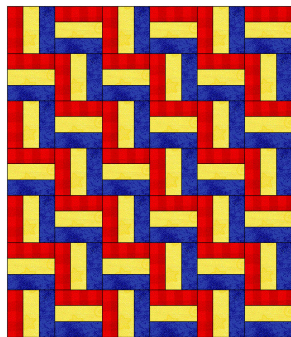

Cutting:

Fabric A (shown as yellow in this diagram): cut (18) 2 ½" strips the full width of fabric (45" total yardage or 1 ¼ yards)

Fabric B (shown as red in this diagram): cut (36) 2 ½" strips the full width of fabric (90" total yardage or 2 ½ yards)

Option 2 – Use 3 Fabrics

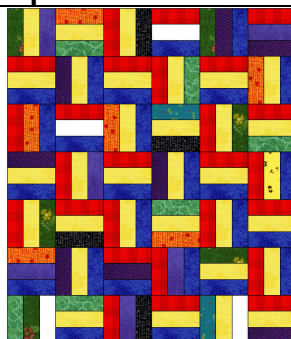

Cutting:

Fabric A: cut (18) 2 ½" strips the full width of fabric (45" total yardage or 1 ¼ yards)

Fabric B: cut (18) 2 ½" strips the full width of fabric (45" total yardage or 1 ¼ yards)

Fabric C: cut (18) 2 ½" strips the full width of fabric (45" total yardage or 1 ¼ yards)

Option 3 – Make it a Random Scrap Quilt

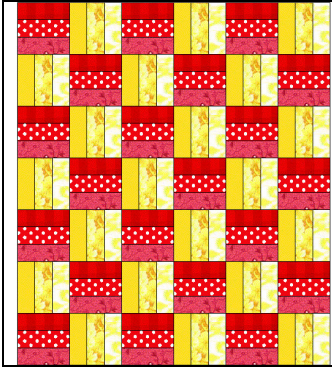

This is for more experienced quilters as you will need to figure your own cuts of yardage and how you will sew them together.

You will need at the very least 3 ¾ yards of scraps.

All fabrics: Cut 2 ½" strips

Options 4 – Give it a Woven-Ribbon Look Using 2 Different Color Themes

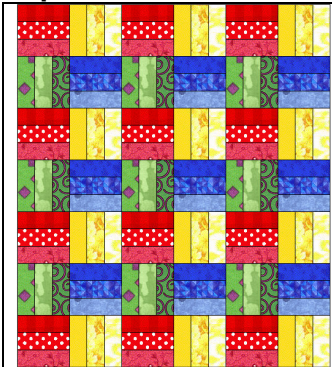

This is for more experienced quilters as you will need to figure your own cuts of yardage and how you will sew them together.

You will need at the very least 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ yards of fabric.

All fabrics: Cut 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ " strips

Options 4 – Give it a Woven-Ribbon Look Using 4 Different Color Themes

This is for more experienced quilters as you will need to figure your own cuts of yardage and how you will sew them together.

You will need at the very least 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ yards of fabric.

All fabrics: Cut 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ " strips

Assembly Instructions:

- 1) Sew 3 of the 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ " strips together along the long edge. The fabrics you use will depend on how you've designed your quilt.
- 2) Cut the assembled strips into 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ " blocks (you will get 6 blocks per assembled strip, plus scrap).
- 3) Arrange your blocks following your design selection and sew together. 9 blocks to a row, 12 rows. [Note that the drawings of the quilts above do not depict the full-size quilt layout, they merely show block orientation and color choices.]
